

Jewish Federation of Broward County (JFBC), in collaboration with EVP and the City of Neshar, is assembling a TEAM of first responders to be trained and ready to deploy to Israel during a crisis

COMMUNITY SERVICE RESPONDERS

About EVP

The Emergency Volunteers Project (EVP) was established to support and protect the citizens and the Land of Israel, regardless of their religious, cultural or political persuasion. Our mission is to recruit, train and deploy dedicated individuals who will serve as a backup force of emergency responders in Israel. Once training is complete, volunteers partner with Israel's emergency services (firefighters, medical and community services), providing essential life-saving aid to Israel's civilian population during times of emergency.

During an emergency in the State of Israel the majority of available manpower resources may be allocated to the military, which results in a critical need to significantly reinforce depleted resources available at the home front. These reinforcements are provided by EVP through volunteers from outside of Israel who have undergone specific and targeted training, and have been certified by EVP and the of Israeli government as community responders.

Volunteer TEAMS

The JFBC Emergency Response TEAM will consist of firefighters, medical personnel and Community Service Responders (CSR). Every Member of the TEAM is chosen to join only after a vetting process is conducted, verifying the volunteer's ability to perform safely and provide emergency support during a crisis in Israel. Upon activation, all of the volunteer's deployment costs will be provided for. In return, the volunteer complies with the Membership Requirements as detailed herein.

A Community Service Responder (CSR) is a volunteer who might not have any certified skills or licenses to perform first responder services during a crisis. Any basic certifications that the CSR may have, though, are welcomed and only enhance the volunteer's effectiveness in the field. During a crisis in Israel, both emergency and non-emergency providers are needed as many Israeli providers have been called upon as military reserves.

During a crisis in Israel, the women, children and elderly may be required to spend extended periods of time in shelters. It will be the responsibility of the CSR TEAM to provide services to those in shelters: food and water distribution, light first aid, as well as miscellaneous support that may range from playing with the children to attending to the needs of the elderly, among others. CSRs provide emergency and emotional support to civilians who find themselves temporarily displaced and in enormously stressful conditions.

As part of their EVP certification process, CSRs will be trained at facilities in Dade/Broward County. Among the trainers will be Israeli professional first responders trained and experienced in firefighting, Urban Search & Rescue (USAR), EMS, terror response, water distribution, and more. EVP will conduct skill trainings, classroom lectures, and emergency scenario drills. This initial EVP training lasts for 2 days, and will teach standards of readiness as well as acquaint the CSR with protocols and procedures of topics which may include:

- Fire safety
- Deployment preparation and protocols
- Psychological first aid
- Terrorism – general awareness
- Operating water distribution centers
- Disaster medical operations, light search and rescue, and disaster simulation drills

During this initial training, the CSR may enroll for additional content that will allow for certification in the local FEMA sponsored CERT Program, which will enable the CSR to provide first responder services locally during a crisis such as hurricane relief.

Additionally, EVP offers ongoing training programs to its volunteers: online, in the field, and in the classroom.

Deployment Costs

All CSR costs of deployment, including roundtrip airfare to Israel, lodging, transportation, insurance and food in Israel will be paid for by a combination of the JFBC and Israeli governmental agencies.

CSRs will be recognized as emergency responders in the city of Neshar. If Neshar has not requested deployment, then the assignment will be made to another municipal partner of EVP.

www.evp.org.il

EVP volunteers will be available for deployment to Israel with their TEAM or as individuals if whole TEAMS cannot deploy, for the following scenarios:

- Natural disasters (earthquake, floods, tsunami, major wildfire, etc.)
- Mass casualty incidents (major incident or accident at a power plant, fires, etc.)
- War (regional conflict, war on all fronts, major terror attack with mass casualties)

NOTE: If there is any possibility of chemical or biological agents being used against Israel, responders will either not deploy to Israel, or if already there, will be immediately evacuated.

Deployments are initiated at the request of the Israeli government or by the relevant emergency services/municipalities. However, in extreme scenarios (e.g. earthquake) when normal communications may be disrupted, deployment will be initiated and facilitated according to a pre-planned emergency program.

Activation and deployment of the first group of responders in any emergency will be completed within a predefined time frame after activation, with additional TEAMS deployed in phases as dictated by the situation. Subsequent TEAMS will deploy to Israel according to a pre-determined rotation schedule upon authorization by the relevant emergency authorities in Israel. Responders will be rotated every 10-14 days and then replaced by the next volunteer TEAM. Should a volunteer desire to stay longer than a 10-14 rotation, they may do so with the approval of EVP's TEAM leaders.

Upon arrival at Ben Gurion Airport, volunteers will be met by EVP personnel and immediately taken to their assigned location. They will then be introduced and turned over to the local emergency managers who will give them their instructions moving forward. The volunteers will likely be sleeping and eating in the shelters throughout their deployment. Language is rarely a problem for the American volunteer in Israel, as the local emergency staff have personnel with more than sufficient ability to communicate and coordinate activity in English, even with those Israelis that do not speak English.

EVP Volunteer Certification

All responders who deploy to Israel must be certified by EVP, which means they have completed all required training, hold valid certification(s), and are ready for deployment. A certified responder is defined as one who has, over the period of one year, completed the following requirements:

- a. Meets all EVP volunteer requirements for their area of service
- b. Completes any annual training requirements in the United States
- c. Passed EVP's annual volunteer review
- d. Meets EVP's standards of conduct

Insurance

During any non-emergency deployment, emergency deployment or formal EVP training in Israel, volunteers will be covered through the State of Israel for the period of their deployment with and as part of EVP volunteers.

Annual Membership

All volunteers will be required to register and certify themselves as members of the EVP by renewing their membership annually. Membership dues (currently $60 annually) will be determined annually, and must be paid by the volunteer prior to their EVP membership anniversary date.

Volunteer Benefits

1. All costs of deployment will be paid by JFBC and Israeli governmental agencies.
2. A Personnel Profile Page, which can be used as a tool to raise volunteer funds
3. An EVP training certificate, a volunteer identification badge, operational instructions, and a guidelines manual
4. Free access to the EVP online training site and related materials
5. Up to a 35% discount on EVP volunteer programs in Israel
6. Access to a web-based news agent for relevant stories of importance to Israel
7. Near real-time updates on the current situation in Israel
8. Emergency deployment accommodations and meals while in Israel
9. Assignment to a local TEAM of volunteers or an emergency services organization
10. Official recognition as an Emergency Responder, and assignment to an Israeli responder team

Membership Requirements

All volunteers must meet/complete the following requirements in order to become and remain an active EVP member:

1. Meet the age requirements as set forth by EVP, or obtain a written waiver for service beyond the age requirements
2. Successfully complete a background check
3. Pass a medical examination and provide all the required and relevant medical documents signed by your doctor
4. Obtain and maintain any required skill certifications necessary to function in the chosen area of service
5. Successfully complete annual EVP training requirements (either in Israel or at a regional training center)
6. Sign and abide by the EVP code of conduct and confidentiality agreement
7. Pay annual membership dues

Every volunteer will be assigned a personal portal on the website which they will populate with at least minimal content. At the time of deployment, each volunteer shall reach out via the portal to friends and family seeking donations to offset deployment expense.

While generally there are minimal time requirements of the volunteer until a deployment, there may be an activity or two during the year. Participation is expected as it is part of “team building” and critical to the TEAM’s effectiveness and cohesion during a deployment.

Age

All deployed volunteers (responders) must be between the ages of 20 and 55. Exceptions are possible upon presentation of a special request in writing and supporting documentation as required by EVP.

Health

Due to the physical nature of most of the work in Israel and the stress that can be experienced while deployed under difficult and possibly dangerous conditions, all responders must be in good health and be able to operate effectively in an emergency environment involving potentially disturbing sights and events. Responders must be capable of operating under pressure for extended periods of time, be able to perform the duties for which they have been trained, and work, if necessary, under difficult physical conditions. Responders will be required to complete, sign, and submit a medical evaluation form and provide a medical doctor's statement affirming the responder is able to meet the physical demands of a deployed environment.

Background Check

All volunteers must agree to a thorough background check that includes criminal history. This background check will be repeated annually throughout the duration of one's EVP membership. Any history of criminal arrest or conviction will be reviewed by EVP leadership and may result in denial of EVP membership. It is incumbent on each volunteer to notify their chapter lead if ever arrested for any criminal activity, whether considered a misdemeanor or a felony. In addition, volunteers should have received no more than one traffic citation for a moving violation within the past twelve months.

Activation System

Emergency alert or activation will occur at the direction of the appropriate Israeli agency. Once an alert notification or activation order is received, senior EVP staff will authorize an increase of the EVP alert level. Senior EVP officials also have the authority to order the initiation of the predefined procedures and actions required and to activate the US Situation Room. When a nationwide alert has been issued, senior EVP staff will determine the appropriate alert level and which service TEAMS will be notified. All activation procedures will follow the predefined protocols and procedures.

www.evp.org.il

Deployment Waves

EVP Leadership will determine the number of deployment waves needed based on the specific incident encountered. For example, in an earthquake scenario, all required waves will likely be activated at the same time due to the extreme and widespread nature of the situation. In a war or large terror incident, deployments may be separated into up to four waves that will cover the first two months. If succeeding waves are deemed necessary, EVP will make this determination in conjunction with the appropriate Israeli government organization.
